

From the SOFC Constitution:

“a. Uniquely Compelling

- i. Each Fall, a fund of $10,000 is set aside from the contingency fund account for uniquely compelling.
- ii. SOAC approved organizations that have been constituted for at least one full year may apply for money from this fund to purchase a major capital expenditure or spend money on some other item termed illegal by this legislation.
- iii. SOFC does not have to spend the entire $10,000 but may not spend more than this amount each fall.
- iv. In emergency situations, SOFC may approve an expenditure from the savings account to subsidize UC.
- v. If an organization receives a uniquely compelling grant it must be used by the end of the fiscal year. After this point the monies will be reverted to the general pool. Organizations who don't use at least 90% of their U.C. grant will not be allowed to apply for uniquely compelling funds for the following academic year.
- vi. A uniquely compelling grant may only be used for the specific item requested.
 1. In applying for the funds, the organization must clearly state the item they want and where it can be purchased, including three price quotes.
 2. The organization must demonstrate that they have done research to ensure that they have found the lowest price; this must include at least three printouts or cutouts.
 3. The organization must state its purpose and demonstrate how this item will better enable the organization to meet its purpose.”
