The Online Writing Lab at Purdue University
Purdue’s excellent site offers numerous exercises, as well as informative guides such as “US Higher Education: A Cultural Introduction” and “Writing in North American Higher Education: A Primer for International Students.”
http://owl.english.purdue.edu

American English Dictionary for ESL and TOEFL Students
With this dictionary, you can learn the 3000 most commonly spoken words in English, practice with pronunciation exercises and vocabulary quizzes, and sign up to have the “Learner’s Word of the Day” sent to your email account.
http://www.learnersdictionary.com/

Duolingo
Although this app is often used by native English speakers who want to learn other languages, it is also targeted to non-native English speakers from multiple language backgrounds who would like to improve their English skills. The app allows you to set daily goals for yourself—as small as using the app for five minutes a day—and quickly adapts to your comprehension level.
Available at the App Store.

Linguee
Linguee is not your average online dictionary. It places your search term in context by providing a translated paragraph that includes the term, allowing you to notice errors that simpler translation tools would overlook. Linguee can be used for students learning English as well as native English speakers studying languages other than English.
http://www.linguee.com/