ARTICLES OF GOVERNMENT

BOOK I

ARTICLE I. GOVERNMENT OF THE COLLEGE

Section 1. The President

The President of the College, who shall be the chief executive officer, shall be appointed by the Trustees and shall hold office for such time as the Trustees may determine. It shall be the duty of the President to preside at meetings of the Academic Council; to act as the medium of communication between the Trustees and the Council and the faculty and all other persons in the service of the College; to recommend to the Trustees appointments of officers of administration; to notify all persons appointed or reappointed by the Trustees or Executive Committee; to appoint (or remove) all other agents needed for the administration of the College and determine their duties and salaries except as otherwise provided; to keep acquainted with all the affairs and interests of the College; and to exercise supervision over all its departments. The President shall prepare or have prepared the annual Catalogue of the College and shall present annually to the Trustees a report upon the condition of the College with an account of the work of the year and any recommendations which may seem to be expedient.

Section 2. Administrative Officers

There shall be a Dean of the College, the second officer of the institution, and such other administrative officers as the Trustees shall appoint on recommendation of the President. Their duties shall be defined by the President, in consultation with the Trustees.

Section 3. Student Government

The Wellesley College Government Association is the formal organization of Wellesley students. The Senate is in charge of the executive and legislative work of the College Government Association. (For details, see College Government Handbook.)

ARTICLE II. THE ACADEMIC COUNCIL

Section 1. Membership

- A. The voting membership of the Academic Council shall consist of
1. The President
 2. The Deans
 3. Members of the teaching faculty on full-time appointment excluding the visiting professors in their first or second year of service.
 4. Members of the teaching faculty on regular part-time appointment to whom shall be extended the rights and privileges of full-time faculty except whereas stated
 5. Faculty on term appointments after their second consecutive year of service
 6. Full-time instructors in science laboratory, and part-time instructors in science laboratory after their second consecutive year of service

7. The Executive Director of the Wellesley Centers for Women (WCW), plus two persons from WCW who are research scientists, project directors, or associate directors who: (a) hold the classification of “Research and Other Externally Funded Positions” at WCW, and (b) are elected by members of WCW with that same classification.
 8. The following members of the administration:
 - a. The Vice President for Administration and Planning
 - b. The Vice President for Finance and Treasurer
 - c. The Vice President for Resources and Public Affairs
 - d. The Vice President for Information Services
 - e. The Dean of Admission
 - f. The Registrar
 - g. The Librarian
 9. One student representative, based on seniority, from each of the twelve Academic Council committees on which students vote. Each student may vote only on those issues which originate in the committee on which she serves.
 10. Members of the faculty and the administration who are eligible to be voting members of the Academic Council may, at the start of each academic year, decline such membership. Eligible members who do not decline will be included among the voting members.
- B. In addition, the following are nonvoting members of the Academic Council:
1. Faculty on term appointments who are in their first or second year of service
 2. The College Archivist and three Library and Information Services staff members at the managerial level
 3. The Editor of the Alumnae Magazine
 4. The Executive Director of the Alumnae Association
 5. Two Heads of House (elected by the Heads of House)
 6. Part-time instructors in science laboratory who are in their first or second year of service
 7. Other administrative officers, not to exceed twenty-four, as named by the President and approved by Academic Council
 8. Nine College Government cabinet members, four block senators elected by the Senate of College Government, and three rotating seats available to students-at-large to insure adequate representation and communication. These student-at-large members will submit their names to the Office of the Coordinator of Academic Council prior to each Academic Council. No student member may attend meetings of Academic Council which are announced in advance as Executive Sessions.
- C. Other officers of instruction and administration may be given this responsibility by vote of the Trustees. In practice it is given on recommendation of the Academic Council or the Committee on Faculty Appointments.
- D. A faculty member of Academic Council appointed by the President shall serve as the Parliamentarian of Academic Council. The Parliamentarian shall assist the President in ensuring that the proceedings of Academic Council are conducted in accordance with the provisions set out in Articles of Government, Book I, Article III. The Parliamentarian shall consult with committees and individual members of Academic Council on matters concerning the rules of order, the introduction and wording of motions, and the interpretation of Articles of Government. The Parliamentarian shall serve as a non-voting member of the Agenda Committee. The normal term of service for the Parliamentarian shall be five years.

Section 2. Powers and Duties

The Academic Council within the limits set by the Bylaws of the College shall determine policy relating to the academic, social, and religious life of the students. In cooperation with the Trustees, it shall fix requirements for admission and for degrees and approve the courses of instruction. It shall hold eight or more meetings during each academic year, and whenever called together by the President, or at the request of any three members.

ARTICLE III. MEETINGS OF THE ACADEMIC COUNCIL

Section 1. Privileges

All persons attending meetings of the Council are free to speak and present motions whether they vote or not. There shall be no separation of voting and nonvoting members in the seating of the Council room.

Section 2. Time of Meetings

All afternoon meetings of the Academic Council shall close not later than six o'clock unless a motion to adjourn is voted down.

Section 3. Order of Business

 - e. Divide the question
- G. In general, no motion (except to adjourn) that has been voted on can be brought up again during the same session, except by a motion to reconsider. But this rule does not prevent the renewal of subsidiary motions if the question has in any way changed.

Section 5. Special Rules of Order

- A. An amendment to the Articles of Government shall not be voted upon at the same meeting at which it is presented. For adoption, the amendment must be approved by a majority of members present at the meeting at which the vote is taken.
- B. Amendments to the rules of order require previous notice as well as a two-thirds vote.
- C. The Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy shall, in the spring semester of each year, present to the Academic Council the curriculum for the following academic year. A two-thirds vote of members present shall be required for approval of the curriculum, and the vote on the curriculum shall not be taken on the same day in which the curriculum is presented to Academic Council.
- D. The Academic Council delegates to the Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy the power to approve some amendments to the curriculum that arise after the curriculum has been presented and approved. These delegated amendments include new courses, topics and descriptions, designation of courses as fulfilling specific distribution requirements, changes to directions for election and requirements for honors in the major, and lists of related courses to department and interdepartmental majors. Amendments not in these categories must be brought by the Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy to the Academic Council for its approval by the voting process described above.
- E. Notwithstanding Article III, Section 5A, the Academic Council delegates to the Agenda Committee the power to amend the Articles of Government to remove minor inconsistencies, anachronisms or errors. The Agenda Committee will report all such amendments to the Academic Council. The Academic Council may overturn any such amendment by majority vote.
- F. A two-thirds vote of members present shall be necessary to recommend for the B.A. degree any student who has not met the full requirement for that degree.
- G. Robert's Rules of Order shall be used for reference, but no change in or addition to the preceding rules shall be made except by vote of the Council.
- H. The agenda, reports of committees, and minutes of the Academic Council shall be made public except in the case of executive sessions of the Council.

Section 6. Special Meetings

The Council recommends that the President occasionally call a general meeting for informal discussion of matters of broad interest to the College to which might be invited at the President's discretion, in addition to the Academic Council, such others as might be appropriate. Sense of the meeting votes may be taken if desirable.

ARTICLE IV. DEPARTMENTAL AND EXTRADPARTMENTAL INSTRUCTION

The academic departments and the extradepartmental courses and programs authorized by the Trustees are listed in the table of contents of the Catalog.

ARTICLE V. COMMITTEES OF THE ACADEMIC COUNCIL

Section I. General Committee Regulations

- A. The ultimate authority for all standing committees derives from Academic Council, to which important issues of policy should be referred in the course of committee work.
- B. The President shall be ex officio a member of all standing committees, except the Board of Appeals.
- C. Normally no two members of a single department shall serve on any committee simultaneously.
- D. Normally a faculty member shall not be required to serve simultaneously on more than one committee of Council.
- E. Normally no member shall serve as chair of the same committee for more than two years. This provision shall not apply to such committees as have a chair ex officio.
- F. Normally at least one year (in the case of the Committee on Faculty Appointments and the Advisory Committee on Merit nine years) must elapse before a retiring member of a committee may be eligible to serve on it again, except any person who has served for only one year shall be eligible for immediate reelection for a maximum of an additional two-year term.
- G. Vacancies on standing committees caused by absence of members after the end of an academic year may be filled for one year by the committee concerned. Such appointments shall be cleared through the Agenda Committee and shall be reported to the Council.
- H. If there are insufficient numbers of eligible tenure-track faculty to fill open non-elected committee positions reserved for tenure-track faculty, the Agenda Committee may nominate recently tenured members instead.
- I. All standing committees, except the Board of Appeals and the President's Advisory Council, shall submit a written report to the Academic Council at least once a year, usually early in the academic year.
- J. When, during the course of the year, changes in a faculty member's responsibilities indicate its desirability, a request may be made to be replaced in a committee assignment. The Agenda Committee is authorized to evaluate the request, and to follow the procedure normal for the committee in question to select a replacement.
- K. Faculty members of standing committees shall be elected by the Academic Council in the spring and shall enter upon their duties at the beginning of the next academic year.
- L. It shall be the joint responsibility of committee chairs and the Agenda Committee regularly to review the work of committees with respect to the definition of their functions, the relation between functions of various committees, and the continuing usefulness of any particular committee, and to recommend changes to Academic Council whenever appropriate.
- M. The three groups of departments referred to below are understood to be Humanities - Group A, Social Sciences - Group B, and Science and Mathematics - Group C. For purposes of voting and committee representation, the Extradepartmental program of Theatre Studies shall be considered to be in Group A (Humanities); Education, Physical Education and Athletics, History, Philosophy, Religion in Group B (Social Sciences); and Computer Science to be in Group C (Science and Mathematics).

- N. The Academic Council in May 1970 voted to establish a policy which would ensure Black representation on Council.
- a. Selection of Black representatives shall be supervised by the Black Task Force. Positions to ensure Black representation may not affect or be affected by the election or appointment of Blacks by other means. Further, Black committee members shall have all the rights, duties, and obligations of other members of each committee.
 - b. Selection of Black representatives for the Committee on Faculty Appointments and the Board of Appeals shall be conducted by mail ballot, listing all eligible candidates, to all Black faculty. Faculty, administrators, and students who serve as Black representatives to all other committees shall be appointed by agreement of the active membership of the Black Task Force.
 - c. One position shall be added to each of the standing committees of council. However, each committee shall continue to be composed of the same categories of membership (faculty, administrator, or student) as are presently the case. Normally the Chair of the Black Task Force will serve as the Black Task Force representative on the Agenda Committee.
 - d. The term of office of a Black faculty member or student selected by the Black community shall be the same as the term for a regular faculty or student representative on that committee.
 - e. The term of office of a Black administrator selected by the Black community shall be the same as that of a regular faculty representative on that committee.
 - f. On those committees where the requisites of membership cannot be presently met by members of the Black community, the position will be created now, but not implemented, until the requisites can be met. These committees should provide for periodic Black input.
 - g. The Black community shall have the option of not implementing this legislation with respect to particular committees listed. However, notification shall be given to the Agenda Committee of Academic Council concerning the exercise of this option for a given year.
 - h. Each committee shall, through the Agenda Committee of the Academic Council, advise the Black Task Force regarding the membership category (faculty, administrator, or student) from which the Black representative should most ideally be selected relative to a given committee's balance of membership.
- O. Faculty members elected to a committee are, normally, expected to serve the full number of years of this committee assignment, whether or not those years are served consecutively. However, a member absent during the final year of a committee assignment will be replaced by a member elected to a full term.
- P. Ballots for electing faculty members to committees shall be sent to all voting members of Academic Council, unless another procedure is specified by legislation.
- Q. Anyone who proposes to form an ad hoc committee which would include faculty from more than one department as members shall notify the Agenda Committee of the proposed committee with as much indication as possible of its anticipated membership and length of service.

Section 2. Academic Review Board

- D. Chair: Faculty member elected by the Committee
- E. Function and Authority:
 - 1. Work to assure that the Academic Council functions as described in Wellesley College Bylaws, Article IV (“Academic Council”), Section 2, Paragraph 3: “Within the limits set by these bylaws, the Academic Council shall have general concern for the educational experience of students and shall make rules for its own government. It shall determine policy relating to academic life, shall fix requirements for admission and for degrees subject to approval of the trustees as set forth in these bylaws, and shall approve the courses of instruction. It shall hold meetings during each academic year and whenever called together by the President or at the request of any three of its members.”
 - 2. Act with power in preparing the agenda for the meetings of the Academic Council.
 - 3. The Committee shall have access to all information relevant to any matter which might be related to the educational or academic concerns of the College.
 - 4. The Committee shall serve as the nominating committee for the Academic Council.
 - 5. Nominate candidates to fill faculty vacancies on standing and ad hoc committees except those otherwise listed. Notify Academic Council of the proposed formation, membership and duration of any ad hoc committee, which would involve faculty from more than one department as members.
 - 6. Act with power in preparing ballots.
 - 7. Review and recommend changes in nominating policies.
 - 8. Recommend dissolution of committees no longer serving a function.
- F. Operations:
 - 1. The Committee shall meet regularly to establish the agenda for the meetings of Academic Council.
 - 2. The Committee shall establish its own rules of procedure which shall conform to the following guidelines:
 - a. Obtain information concerning the history of the representation of departments on standing committees, and consult the chairs of these committees.
 - b. Send a list of committees with present membership to faculty and request the following information:
 - 1) The individual’s special departmental and extra-departmental duties, i.e., services and responsibilities (e.g., symposium planning, etc.) other than present committee assignments;
 - 2) Indication as to committees, if any, on which the individual would particularly not wish to serve;

⁶ Committee membership listed below does not include the representation provided for in Article V, Section 1, N.

(although they cannot be bound by such preferences, the Committee will bear them in mind when preparing the ballots).

- c. The Secretary shall set up work sheets containing the above information.
 3. The Committee shall prepare preferential ballots and slates of candidates in accordance with selection rules provided in individual committee outlines.
 4. Unless otherwise noted, all terms are staggered.
 5. The Committee shall devise procedures so that any member of Academic Council may present additional nominations to the chair of the Committee in writing.
- G. Reporting: The Committee shall report annually to Academic Council.

 2. One non-tenured member elected at-large by preferential ballot sent to faculty who are voting members of Academic Council.
- D. Term: Three years.
- E. Chair: The Chair shall be elected yearly from among the four tenured members.
- F. Function:
1. Receive appeals from members of the faculty regarding faculty reappointment, tenure and promotion decisions following guidelines specified in Article IX, and Section 8.
 2. Make impartial investigations of appeals with a view to determining the facts in each case.
 3. Discuss appeals with appropriate persons associated with the College with a view to clarifying and rectifying grievances.
 4. Initiate investigations of Academic Council legislation, College bylaws, academic or administrative policies and procedures, which appear to be unjust or ineffectual.
 5. Recommend to Academic Council changes in Academic Council legislation, College bylaws, academic or administrative policies and procedures.
 6. Report to Academic Council on matters on which satisfactory settlement has not been achieved through investigation and conciliation.

⁷ Committee membership listed does not include the representation provided for in Article V, Section 1, N

G. Operations:

1. Adapt own rules of procedure maintaining confidentiality.
2. Act individually or in concert at the request of the party initiating an appeal.
3. Have access to all documents, reports and other material germane to a matter under investigation. Members of the Board shall have access to and consult with all persons who may contribute to the success of the investigation.
4. Conflicts of Interest:
 - a. Generally, any circumstance that might reasonably be perceived to impair a member's impartiality regarding a specific case shall result in a member's recusal from that case. A member of the Board of Appeals shall absent himself/herself from any case brought to it by a member of his/her own department.
 - b. If a member of the Board of appeals is elected to the Committee on Faculty Appointments, then he or she must resign from the Board of Appeals immediately upon election to the Committee on Faculty Appointments and may not participate in any deliberations or be party to any information relating to a case that may later come before the Committee on Faculty Appointments. If a case has already been opened or an appeal is filed before his/her election, then the former member of the Board of Appeals must absent himself/herself from later Committee on Faculty Appointments deliberations on the same case.
 - c. If the recusal of a member of the Board of Appeals results in a Board of Appeals without a junior faculty member and/or a member of each of the three groups of departments, the person bringing an appeal may ask the Agenda Committee to appoint a replacement. Normally, the replacement shall be a sitting member of the Tenure Track Advisory Committee or a former member of the Board of Appeals or the Committee on Faculty Appointments.
5. The members of the Board shall have secretarial assistance.
6. Appeals of decisions made by the Committee on Faculty Appointments must be filed with the Board of Appeals by the candidate or the Reappointments and Promotion Committee no later than 60 days after a candidate has been notified of the decision. The Board of Appeals, in turn, must conclude its action on the case no later than the end of the first week of the following semester. If an appeal is filed with the Board of Appeals after commencement, the next semester shall be construed as the spring semester of the following year.

H. Reporting: The Committee as a whole or its individual members may report at any time to Academic Council.

ARTICLE VI. COMMITTEES OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES WITH FACULTY/STUDENT MEMBERS

Section 1. Campus & Finance Committee

The Campus & Finance Committee is a committee of the Wellesley College Board of Trustees and is charged with the oversight of Wellesley College's physical, financial, and intangible assets. The Committee is responsible for ensuring the College's short and long-term financial stability and economic health within the context of its mission, goals, and priorities, and for monitoring the current status and projecting the future needs of Wellesley College's programs, buildings, grounds, and real estate holdings.

Section 2. Investment Committee

Subject to the control and direction of the Trustees, the Investment Committee, with the assistance of the Vice President for Finance and Treasurer and the Chief Investment Officer, shall be responsible for the investment of the endowment, trust funds and other assets and investments of the College, and for monitoring and recommending to the Trustees the level and issuance of debt to support capital projects. Some subcommittees of the Investment Committee (such as the Subcommittee on Investment Responsibility) also have faculty and student members.

Section 3. Subcommittee on Investment Responsibility

The Subcommittee on Investment Responsibility, composed of Trustees, faculty, staff, and students, is responsible for 1) proxy voting, and 2) making recommendations to the Investment Committee related to shareholder responsibility. The Subcommittee also evaluates requests from the College community for endowment-related actions on social and environmental issues.

Section 4. Wellesley Experience Committee

The Wellesley Experience Committee, a committee of the Wellesley College Board of Trustees, is charged with ensuring excellence and mission alignment across all aspects of the Wellesley experience - including admissions and financial aid, the academic program, residential life, and career education – so that the breadth, depth and continuing innovation of the program together foster a vibrant intellectual community in which our diverse and talented students can thrive.

Section 5. Wellesley in the World Committee

The Wellesley in the World Committee is a committee of the Wellesley College Board of Trustees charged with stewarding the strategic use of Wellesley's voice, profile, interactions, and reputation beyond the College, including partnerships, our external messaging and relations, and collaboration with and oversight of the Wellesley College Alumnae Association.

Section 6. Members

Faculty members to these Trustee committees are designated by the Agenda Committee.

Section 7. Other Committees

From time to time there may be additional standing or other Trustee committees that have faculty and student members. Ordinarily, faculty members for such committees are designated by the Agenda Committee.

ARTICLE VII. JOINT COMMITTEES AND ORGANIZATIONS

Section 1. Alumnae Council

The Academic Council sends three representatives to Alumnae Council. The representatives serve as a channel of information between the faculty and alumnae attending the Council.

Section 2. Honor Code Council

The Honor Code Council is charged with educating the college community about the Honor Code and adjudicating violations of the Honor Code. (For details covering the operation of the Honor Code Council, see College Government legislation and Honor Code Council procedures.)

- A. Faculty: 9 - for a term of three years, to be appointed by Agenda Committee with terms to be staggered
- B. Administration: 2 - the Dean of Students (or designee) and the Honor Code Administrative Coordinator.
- C. Students: 1 - to be elected through a procedure designated by Senate of College Government and 12 others to be selected in accordance with College government legislation and Honor Code Council procedures.

Section 3. Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial Committee

The duties of the Committee are to arrange for Black guest speakers, lectures, cultural programs and other activities which will honor Dr. King and enrich the College Community.

- A. Faculty: 2 - one faculty member to be appointed by the Africana Studies Department and one faculty member to be appointed by the Agenda Committee for a term of two years.
- B. Staff: 1 - The Director of Harambee House
- C. Students: 4 - two members of Ethos to be appointed by Ethos and two students to be appointed by Senate

Section 4. Honor Code Hearing Review Panel

The Honor Code Hearing Review Panel is charged with considering appeals from decisions made by the Honor Code Council. (For details governing the operation of the Panel, see College Government legislation and Honor Code Council procedures.)

- A. Faculty: 1 - for a term of two years, to be appointed by the Agenda Committee.

- B. Administration: 1 - Dean of the College (or designee).
- C. Students: 1 - to be selected in accordance with College Government legislation and Honor Code Council procedures.

Section 5. Seven-College Conference

Representation to the Seven-College Conference shall report annually to the Academic Council on the proceedings of the Conference. The College shall be represented by the President of the College, ex officio, and two other members, one of whom shall be appointed by the President, at will; the other shall be chosen by the faculty of the College to serve a term of two years, and shall be of any professorial rank.

Section 6. M.I.T. Liaison Committee

The Committee shall supervise Wellesley's affiliation with M.I.T. and deal with issues of common concern. The Dean of the College shall chair the Committee and in consultation with the Agenda Committee shall appoint faculty and staff members. Student members shall be chosen by the College Government.

Section 7. Chaplaincy Policy Committee

The Committee shall make policy concerning Chaplaincy programs and activities. The Committee shall be chaired by the Chaplain and shall determine its own procedures for selecting a Committee whose membership is reflective of the range of religions represented at the College.

ARTICLE VIII. DEPARTMENT ORGANIZATION

(The organization of the Department of Physical Education, Recreation and Athletics is subject to special provisions.)

Section 1. Committees

The composition and duties of department committees shall be as follows:

- A. Departmental Committee:
 - 1. Composition: The Departmental Committee shall consist of all faculty who meet at least half of their teaching responsibilities (carry the major portion of their work) in the department and who are eligible to be voting members of Academic Council. When a faculty member is appointed to more than one department and/or program, the R&P committees of the departments and/or programs concerned and the faculty member shall jointly determine (with the approval of the Provost's office and the CFA) the nature of the faculty member's service to the Departmental Committees of those departments and/or programs. The committee may by majority vote and with the approval of the Dean of the College admit to itself other members of the teaching staff within the department.
 - 2. Duties: The Departmental Committee shall perform the following duties:
 - a. Elect the department's chair. Ordinarily the chair serves for a term of three years and is eligible for reelection. The results of an election or reelection should be reported immediately to the President and to the Dean. This subparagraph does not apply to the Department of Physical Education.
 - b. Determine the department's curricular recommendations to the Committee on Curriculum and Academic Policy.
 - c. Formulate the method of operation of the department.

- d. Decide on a specific method through which students electing work in the department or their representatives shall be involved in department business, such involvement to consist, at the least, of participation in consideration of curricular matters.
- e. Determine the courses of instruction each member of the department is to offer.
- f. Recommend students to participate in the Honors Program.
- g. Engage in an annual conversation about grading practices, philosophies and outcomes. Departments and programs should report on the outcomes of these conversations in their annual reports.
- h. Reach an understanding of College and departmental policy concerning criteria and procedures for promotion and tenure. In the course of performing duties (a.) through (f.), any question in disagreement shall be resolved by majority vote.

3. Reappointments and Promotions Committee:

- a. Composition: The Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall consist of members of the Departmental Committee who are full time or regular part-time faculty members on tenure. The chair of the department, even if tenure-ineligible, shall be an ex officio member of the committee. Only tenured members of the committee shall participate in tenure-eligible reappointment, promotion, or tenure recommendations. Only tenured Full Professors shall participate in nominations to Full Professorship. A tenure-ineligible chair shall participate in reappointment and promotion recommendations, annual conversations, and class visits of tenure-ineligible faculty as a non-voting member. At no time shall the Reappointments and Promotions Committee contain fewer than three persons on tenure. If the membership of the department shall contain fewer than three persons on tenure, the Committee on Faculty Appointments shall appoint from outside the department such number of persons on tenure as may be necessary to bring the tenured membership of the committee to three. In the event that the Reappointments and Promotions Committee for an Associate Professor does not contain at least three Full Professors, the Committee on Faculty Appointments shall appoint from outside the department such number of Full Professors as may be necessary to bring the number of Full Professors on that Associate Professor's Reappointments and Promotions Committee to three. The term of any additional person appointed from outside the department shall be the time necessary to provide three tenured or Full Professor members on the Reappointments and Promotions Committee, or three years, whichever period is shorter. An outside member may be reappointed.
- b. Duties: In accordance with the Articles of Government and departmental policy, the Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall make recommendations with respect to all reappointments, dismissals, and promotions.

In accordance with Articles of Government (Article IX, Section 7) and the guidelines for faculty on term appointments, the Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall make recommendations with respect to appointments, reappointments, and promotions of Visiting Lecturers, Lecturers, and Senior Lecturers. In accordance with the guidelines for instructors in science laboratory, the Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall make recommendations with respect to appointments, reappointments, and promotions of instructors in science laboratory.

Recommendations of reappointment, promotion to all ranks, and tenure shall include evaluation of the candidate's teaching. For the purpose of reappointments and tenure reviews, evaluation of a candidate's teaching is to include classroom visits by members of the Reappointments and Promotions Committee. These visits should function as a means of suggesting improvement of teaching as well as for evaluation.

Members shall absent themselves from meetings in which their appointment or promotion is under consideration.

The Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall establish and communicate to the Search Committee the staffing needs of the department, in terms of both the curricular decisions arrived at by the Departmental Committee and its own decisions and actions concerning appointments.

4. If a Reappointments and Promotions Committee, altered by the temporary voting disqualification of a spouse, does not meet the specifications in subparagraphs 1 and 2A above, the Committee on Faculty Appointments shall make the requisite temporary appointment to meet these specifications.
5. Search Committee:
 - a. Composition: The Search Committee shall consist of the members of the Reappointments and Promotions Committee and one or more non-tenured members of the Departmental Committee, if there be any, such non-tenured members to be elected by the Departmental Committee in such manner as it may determine.
 - b. The search committee for an appointment to be made into more than one department or program shall include at least one representative from each department or program concerned.
 - c. Duties: The Search Committee shall make recommendations respecting all initial appointments.

Section 2. The Chair

- A. Eligibility: The chair shall be elected by the Departmental Committee after consultation with the Dean of the College. The chair shall normally be drawn from among the full professors of the Departmental Committee.
- B. Term: The position of chair shall normally be a renewable three-year appointment.
- C. Duties:

The Chair shall:

1. Oversee the departmental program and the academic experience of students enrolled in departmental courses.
 2. Implement relevant college policies and procedures.
 3. Preside at meetings of the committees listed in Section 1 and implement their decisions. The Chair may participate in committee discussions and shall have the right to vote. This paragraph does not apply in the case of the Reappointments and Promotions Committee if the Chair is ineligible to participate in the deliberations of the Committee in a particular instance.
 4. Appoint such subcommittees as the work of the department may require.
 5. Represent the department on public occasions and before the Trustees, the President, and the students.
 6. Be responsible for the orientation of new members of the faculty and for the mentoring and guidance of departmental colleagues.
 7. Act with power in cases of emergency.
- D. Program Directors: The roles and responsibilities of directors of interdepartmental programs with their own faculty appointments shall be the same as those of department chairs.

Section 3. Appeals

Appeals from decisions of the Committees listed in Section 1 may be made to the Dean of the College, the

President of the College, suitable Committees of Academic Council, or the Board of Appeals, whichever is appropriate in terms of the nature of the issue.

ARTICLE IX. FACULTY APPOINTMENT POLICIES

Section 1. Conditions of Appointment

(Appointments in the Department of Physical Education and Athletics are subject to special provisions, as are appointments of faculty on term appointments and of instructors in science laboratory.)

- A. The provisions of this Article, except as indicated under Section 7, and of Articles X-XV apply to appointments that lead to a tenure review after the stipulated probationary period. These are called "tenure-track" appointments.

The provisions of Section 1.C.D.E.F. and G. of this article also apply to faculty on term appointments, teaching faculty in the Department of Physical Education and Athletics, and all other instructional staff.

- B. "Service" as used in these Articles is interpreted to mean service in full-time appointments except for regular part-time appointments. Regular part-time appointments, as distinguished from nonregular part-time appointments, are tenure-track part-time appointments. For regular part-time appointments, "service" shall be specified to be a certain fraction, at least one-half, of a full-time appointment.
- C. Appointment is ordinarily made to one department. The appointment shall be an interdepartmental appointment when the faculty member ordinarily teaches more than one course in each of two departments.
- D. In view of the early notice which the College agrees to give of the decision not to offer further appointment, the member of the faculty who proposes to resign is expected to give notice in ample time.
- E. One spouse may neither nominate nor vote on the nomination of the other for appointment, the reappointment, or promotion (including tenure) to full- or part-time positions in the same department.
- F. Members of the faculty holding full-time appointments shall accept regular employment elsewhere during the academic year only after informing the chair of the department and securing the approval of the Dean of the College.
- G. It is recognized that in case of grave moral delinquency, the College has the right to dismiss at any time.
- H. The minimum salary for each rank shall be a matter of public information. Under ordinary circumstances the maximum of a rank shall be below the minimum of the next higher rank. Promotion at the time of tenure (see Article X) will mean that limited overlap may occur between the ranks of Assistant and Associate Professor. It is also recognized that there should be enough flexibility in the application of the salary scale to allow for special adjustments, particularly when a valuable contribution is made by an individual not meeting the usual requirements for promotion.

When financial conditions permit, salaries should be increased at the time of each reappointment until the maximum of the rank is reached. Exceptions to this policy should be recommended by the Reappointments and Promotions Committee of the department, or, in case of Associate Professors, by the chair in consultation with the members in Full Professorial rank. Exceptions in the case of Professors' salaries may be recommended by the chair of the department or by the President.

Section 2. Qualifications for Rank

- A. Instructors. An individual who does not hold the Ph.D. degree is appointed as an Instructor. No individual may be initially appointed at this rank who has more than one year of service at another institution of higher learning.

If all requirements for the Ph.D. are successfully fulfilled by October 1 of the first year of appointment as Instructor, the contract will be converted to that of an Assistant Professor as of the beginning of the fall semester. If all requirements for the Ph.D. are successfully fulfilled between October 1 and January 31 of the first year of appointment as Instructor, the contract will be converted to that of an Assistant Professor as of the beginning of the spring semester. If all requirements for the Ph.D. are successfully fulfilled by October 1 of the second year of appointment as Instructor, the contract will be converted to that of an Assistant Professor as of the beginning of the fall semester. If the requirements are not successfully fulfilled by this date, the contract is terminated at the end of the academic year.

- B. Assistant Professors. Ordinarily an individual who holds the Ph.D. degree is appointed as an Assistant Professor.

There is only one exception to this general policy. Individuals who have not completed the Ph.D. but have served at Wellesley in the rank of Instructor for two years and have obtained a degree such as the B.D., M.F.A., or comparable degree in other fields, in addition to the B.A., may be considered for promotion to the rank of Assistant Professor.

1. First-Level Assistant Professors - No individual may be appointed at this rank who has served more than two years without the Ph.D. at any institution of higher learning.
2. Second-Level Assistant Professors - An individual who has three or more years' service at another institution after receiving the Ph.D. degree is appointed at this level.

- C. Associate Professors and Professors. Individuals who have considerable experience at another institution and have demonstrated unusually strong evidence of teaching ability and intellectual distinction are appointed as Associate Professors or Professors.

D. Regular Part-Time Appointments

1. Status as a regular part-time faculty member will be expressly identified at the time of appointment to this status. All provisions of Articles of Government governing faculty appointments apply to regular part-time faculty except where contrary regulations are specified. Initial appointments to regular part-time positions are ordinarily made to the professorial ranks. Instructors are ineligible for regular part-time professorial ranks. Instructors are ineligible for regular part-time appointments. Regular part-time initial appointments and reappointments shall ordinarily be made for three-year terms. A tenure decision is made at a time requested by the appointee in accordance with the conditions of this paragraph. For an individual appointed at the rank of Assistant Professor, the tenure decision shall be made between the sixth and ninth years of the appointment, inclusive, less one year for each prior year of full-time teaching, with at most three years' credit for teaching elsewhere. A recommendation for promotion to the rank of Associate Professor shall normally be considered at the same time as the tenure decision. For an individual appointed at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor, the tenure decision shall be made between the second and fourth years of the appointment, inclusive. If an individual requests that a tenure decision be made in other than the second year of a three-year term and the decision is unfavorable, then the appointment shall be converted so as to terminate at the end of the academic year following the unfavorable decision.
2. In exceptional circumstances, it may be possible to convert from full-time to regular part-time status. Such conversion must take place with the approval of the individual and department concerned, the Dean of the College, and the Committee on Faculty Appointments. In no case can conversion of this sort be made in the year of tenure decision.

Section 3. Length of Terms

Instructors. Appointments of Instructors shall be made for one year. If conversion to Assistant Professor does not occur by October 1 or January 31 (see Section 2.A.) of that year, the appointment as Instructor will be automatically renewed for a second year. Ordinarily, a person may serve no longer than two years as an Instructor, including within this period all service without the Ph.D. in any institution of higher learning. Only in exceptional circumstances shall a third one-year appointment as Instructor be made and this appointment shall be terminal.

A. Assistant Professors

1. First-Level Assistant Professors

- a. Initial appointments to the College at this rank - Initial appointments to the rank of first-level Assistant Professor are normally for three- or four-year terms, depending upon departmental recommendation.
- b. Promotions to this rank after service at the College - Appointments to the rank of first-level Assistant Professor are ordinarily for three years. By mutual agreement of the individual concerned and the College, an Instructor who receives his or her Ph.D. degree during the first year at the College may be given an additional one-year contract as Assistant Professor.

2. Second-Level Assistant Professors

- a. Initial appointments to the College at this rank - Initial appointments to the rank of second-level Assistant Professor are ordinarily for a three-year term.

Consideration of reappointment comes in the second year. If the decision is unfavorable, service at the College ends at the end of the third year. If the decision is favorable, an additional year is added to the three-year contract and the tenure decision is made in the third year. If tenure is granted, the appointment is converted in the fourth year at the College to a three-year appointment at the rank of Associate Professor.

- b. Promotions to this rank after service at the College. Appointments to the rank of second-level Assistant Professor are made so as not to exceed a probationary period of seven years before tenure or termination with the decision to be made in the sixth year of service. If a favorable tenure decision is received, this appointment is converted to an Associate Professorship, provided the individual will have served five years as Assistant Professor at Wellesley or another institution (including a year on early leave at Wellesley within this period). Ordinarily, only those years of full-time service at other institutions as an Assistant Professor with the Ph.D. will be counted in the probationary period, up to a maximum of three years.

The length of term for second-level Assistant Professors will vary depending upon the number of years' prior service at Wellesley College and elsewhere.

- (1) four years for individuals with three years' prior service at Wellesley College at the time this appointment begins;
- (2) three years for individuals with four years' prior service at Wellesley College and elsewhere at the time this appointment begins;
- (3) two years for individuals with five years' prior service at Wellesley College and elsewhere at the time this appointment begins;
- (4) one year for individuals with six years' prior service at Wellesley College and elsewhere at the time this appointment begins.

- c. Extension of the probationary period at this rank. In extraordinary circumstances, when decisions by the College substantially interfere for an extended period (at least one academic year) with an Assistant Professor's capacity to conduct research, the Provost may, with the approval of the Committee on Faculty Appointments, extend an appointment prior to a tenure review, normally by one year.

Section 4. Notifications

- A. Reappointments. Notice of reappointment or non-reappointment must be given in writing in accordance with the following standards:

1. Not later than March 1 of the first academic year of service, if the appointment expires at the end of the year.
 2. Not later than December 15 of the second academic year of service, if the appointment expires at the end of that year.
 3. At least twelve months before the expiration of an appointment after two or more years at the institution.
- B. Tenure. The President shall notify a faculty member in writing of the decision of the Reappointments and Promotions Committee of the department and the Committee on Faculty Appointments with regard to a tenure appointment. The time of notification depends on the rank of the initial appointment at the College. A year spent on leave will be excluded from the years in rank at the written request of the individual. Such a request must be made within sixty days after receipt of notification of approval of the leave request.
1. Faculty who are initially appointed at the rank of Associate Professor or Professor are notified not later than April 15 of the second year of service at the College.
 2. Other full-time faculty are notified not later than December 15 of the sixth year of service, including within this period the years of service at another institution up to and including three years.
 3. Assistant Professors on regular part-time appointment shall request a tenure decision no later than April 15 of the calendar year in which they wish to be reviewed. These faculty are notified not later than December 15 of the year of the review.
 4. Associate Professors or Professors on regular part-time appointment shall request a tenure decision not later than October 15 of the academic year in which they wish to be reviewed. These faculty are notified not later than April 15 of the year of the review.

Section 5. Interdepartmental Appointments

- A. Interdepartmental appointments may be made in three ways: faculty may be appointed into two or more departments; they may be appointed into a department and an interdepartmental program; or they may be appointed solely into an interdepartmental program.
- B. Interdepartmental appointments shall be made by agreement of the department(s) or programs concerned and the Dean of the College.
1. A Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall be established for each faculty member holding an interdepartmental appointment at the time of hiring.
 2. In the case of an appointment into more than one department and/or program, the Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall normally be made up of Reappointments and Promotions Committee members from the departments and/or programs concerned. The exact composition of the committee, which shall consist of no fewer than three members, will be determined by the Reappointments and Promotions Committees of the concerned departments and programs, subject to the approval of the Committee on Faculty Appointments.
 3. In the case of an appointment into an interdepartmental program, the Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall be made up of full time or regular part-time faculty members on tenure who hold appointments in the program concerned. At no time shall the Reappointments and Promotions Committee contain fewer than three persons on tenure. If there are fewer than three tenured faculty members holding an appointment in the program concerned, the Committee on Faculty Appointments shall appoint, in consultation with the tenured director(s) of the program, such number of persons as may be necessary to bring the membership of the committee to three.

Section 6. Process of Evaluation for Reappointment, Promotion, and Tenure Decision

- A. When interviewed, candidates being considered for appointment shall be furnished by the Department Chair with a general overview of procedures and prospects concerning reappointment, promotion, and tenure.
- B.
1. New faculty shall be informed promptly by the Department Chair of the procedures relating to reappointment, promotion, and/or tenure, and referred to the appropriate sections of College legislation dealing with these matters. (Articles of Government, Book I, Articles IX, X, XI.) This information includes the functions of the Committee on Faculty Appointments (Articles of Government, Book I, Article V, Section 12), the departmental Reappointments and Promotions Committee and its current membership arrangements for class visits, the role of student evaluation questionnaires and letters in the evaluative process, and the use of external professional evaluators.
 2. In addition, the Department Chair shall inform new faculty that there will be two required first-year class visits, that these are developmental rather than evaluative, that departments may elect not to produce written visit reports, that reports (if produced) shall not be requested by the CFA. These first-year class visits are intended to open a dialogue about effective teaching and to stimulate the sharing of ideas.
- C. For interinstitutional appointments, the new faculty member shall be informed by the Dean of the College of the composition and membership of the Reappointments and Promotions Committee which would be making recommendations in her/his case and of the procedures relating to reappointment, promotion, and/or tenure.
1. The Reappointments and Promotions Committee or its designated representatives shall meet annually with each nontenured member of the department on tenure track appointment (unless the faculty member requests otherwise) to discuss the candidate's current situation and that of the department. The Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall provide as realistic an assessment as possible with the data available of the prospects for reappointment and/or tenure. A memorandum of the substance of this meeting shall be prepared and signed by the chair of the Reappointments and Promotion Committee, countersigned by the nontenured faculty member, a copy then to be retained by the nontenured faculty member, another by the department. This memorandum must include the timing of the candidate's next review (i.e., reappointment or tenure). The two developmental first-year class visits (see B.2. above) shall be discussed during the first annual meeting, but the annual meeting report must specify only that these class visits have taken place.
 2. At least three Full Professors on the Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall meet with each Associate Professor in the department during her/his second and fifth years in rank (unless the Associate Professor requests otherwise) for a conversation about the Associate Professor's progress toward promotion to the rank of Full Professor.

A memorandum indicating either that the conversation has taken place or that it has not shall be prepared and signed by the Associate Professor and the Chair of the Department, a copy then to be retained by the Associate Professor, another by the department, and one forwarded to the Committee on Faculty Appointments. This memorandum shall be filed with the Committee on Faculty Appointments no later than September 15 of the candidate's third and sixth years in rank.
- D. Faculty members under consideration for reappointment, promotion, and/or tenure decisions shall communicate to the Reappointments and Promotions Committee and/or the Committee on Faculty Appointments any information or materials they wish to have considered, e.g., course syllabi, bibliographies, teaching innovations, membership in professional organizations at the national or local level. Materials submitted shall include a statement of the faculty member's professional achievements and plans for the future. It is a faculty member's responsibility to revise annually her/his professional activity file (kept in the Office of the Dean of the College).
- E. By October 15, a list shall be published of faculty members to be reviewed for reappointment, promotion, tenure, or merit increases in that academic year. The name of a faculty member under review will be included unless the candidate objects.

- F. All members of the Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall participate in the composition of the letter(s) of recommendation. Separate letters representing majority and any minority recommendations are required; these shall be shared among all members of the Reappointments and Promotions Committee. All deliberations of departmental Reappointments and Promotions Committees concerning individuals shall be confidential.
- G. As soon as the departmental Reappointments and Promotions Committee submits its recommendation to the Committee on Faculty Appointments regarding a candidate under consideration for reappointment, promotion or tenure, the candidate must be informed in writing by the Department Chair whether the recommendation was positive or negative and whether it was unanimous. If a candidate requests, a Reappointments and Promotions Committee will discuss the recommendation in terms of the factors listed in Section K below. In no instance shall a specific individual opinion or vote be revealed.
- H. As soon as the Reappointments and Promotions Committee submits its recommendation or recommendations, and subsequent correspondence to the Committee on Faculty Appointments regarding a candidate under consideration for reappointment, promotion, or tenure, the Committee on Faculty Appointments shall give the candidate an exact copy of the letter or letters so submitted. At the request of the Reappointments and Promotions Committee, portions of the letter or letters which identify individuals other than the candidate shall be deleted. Signatures shall be deleted from this letter.
- I. If the Committee on Faculty Appointments upholds a negative recommendation from a Reappointments and Promotions Committee, or if it reverses a positive recommendation from a Reappointments and Promotions Committee, the candidate has the right to discuss the decision with the Dean of the College (Chair of the Committee on Faculty Appointments), and/or with the Committee on Faculty Appointments as a whole. If requested by the candidate after such a discussion, the Chair of the Committee on Faculty Appointments will endeavor to summarize in writing the Committee's views, respecting the principle of confidentiality of Reappointments and Promotions Committees and of the deliberations of the Committee on Faculty Appointments
- J. Reappointments and Promotions Committees and the Committee on Faculty Appointments shall make their recommendations after a careful evaluation of the candidate and of the requirements of the department(s) and the College. The criteria for such evaluations follow.
1. Quality of teaching. The evaluation of teaching effectiveness is of major importance in reaching a decision on recommendation for reappointment, promotion, and/or tenure. Faculty visits to the classroom are essential to such an evaluation. However, teaching does not take place solely in a classroom but also in conferences, independent work, and honors projects. It is thus important to gain an understanding and full appreciation of a candidate's approach to teaching: i.e., the goals of teaching that are considered important and the teaching methods considered appropriate to these goals. It is equally important for the candidate to be informed about the department's expectation with regard to teaching. Student evaluation questionnaires and student letters must also be considered essential to an evaluation of teaching effectiveness. Such evaluations and letters shall be compared to the evidence based on classroom visits. It is also appropriate for a candidate to submit a letter regarding those aspects of her/his teaching which are not, in the normal course of events, subject to evaluation. The following procedural steps shall be observed for classroom visits:
 - a. Class visits. Class visits by members of the Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall be spaced throughout a term of appointment. Within one year preceding the date of any decision regarding reappointment, promotion to all ranks (except the rank of Full Professor), and/or tenure, there shall be at least three visits made by three different members of the Reappointments and Promotions Committee. Department Chairs shall take care that arrangements for visits are made in advance with the instructors (at least forty-eight hours in advance), taking into consideration her/his preference as to times and numbers of individuals at a visiting session.

Prior to class visits, visiting faculty shall discuss with the instructor the general design of the course and place of the specific class session in this design.

Faculty visits to the classroom are valuable as a means for suggesting improvement of teaching as well as for evaluation. Class visits shall be followed promptly by an oral discussion of the visit with the instructor. A written report of the visit shall be prepared by the visitor and placed in the instructor's departmental file. A copy shall be sent to the instructor within two weeks of the visit. If the written report is not filed within a month of the visit, the chair of the R&P and/or the instructor will inform the Office of the Dean of the College. Successive evaluations shall include comparisons with former evaluations of teaching performance. It is appropriate for evaluated faculty members to file written statements in their departmental files responding both to oral and written communications. An opportunity for this response shall be given before the Reappointments and Promotions Committee meets to draw up its recommendations.

The opportunity for non-tenured faculty to observe senior colleagues in the classroom is another valuable means for the improvement of teaching. Each department shall encourage this type of interchange.

- b. Student evaluations. All students in all courses are expected to submit an evaluation form. Copies of the individual evaluations and statistical summaries of these evaluations are made available by the Office of the Dean of the College to the instructor, the Reappointments and Promotions Committee, and the Committee on Faculty Appointments, except that there is no required reporting of Student Evaluation Questionnaires to the Committee on Faculty Appointments or Departmental Reappointments and Promotions Committees for new tenure-track faculty in the first semester of a four-year initial appointment¹⁹, and to the Committee on Faculty Appointments or Departmental Reappointments and Promotions Committees during the year following a tenure decision. Other letters of comment from students and colleagues are placed in an instructor's file in the Office of the Dean of the College, and copies, with the signature deleted, are sent to the instructor and to the Department Chair for the Reappointments and Promotions Committees.
 - c. Outside visiting committee. In the case of a reappointment to a second-level assistant professorship or a tenure decision, if a majority of the members of a Reappointments and Promotions Committee are from outside the department, the Committee on Faculty Appointments may, in consultation with the candidate, constitute an outside visiting committee to evaluate the candidate's teaching.
2. Evidence of scholarly strength and growth, including research activity and potential; evidence of remaining abreast of one's field. Faculty members under consideration for reappointment, promotion, and/or tenure shall deposit in their departmental files any materials with reference to research in progress, publications, and unpublished work including scholarly activity while on sabbatical or unpaid professional leave, and any other material they may wish considered in the evaluative process.

External professional evaluations. All candidates for tenure and for promotion to the rank of Full Professor shall ordinarily receive external, professional evaluation of published material and, if they wish, of work in progress and other unpublished work. Selection of outside scholars, who in turn recommend the evaluators to read the material, will be made jointly by the Dean of the College, the Reappointments and Promotions Committee, and the candidate. Suggestions of names of these outside scholars shall be submitted to the Dean of the College during the semester preceding the tenure or promotion decision, but no later than April 15 (for fall decisions) or November 15 (for spring decisions).

It is not precluded that these scholars may themselves serve as evaluators. The candidate has the right to indicate in writing the names of scholars from whom she/he feels it would be inappropriate to request an evaluation. The evaluators will be asked to comment on both the candidate's research accomplishments and her/his capacity for scholarly growth and success in remaining abreast of developments in her/his field. The candidate shall submit material for evaluation by outside evaluators by July 15 (for fall tenure decisions) or by December 15 (for spring tenure decisions) or by January 15 (for spring promotion decisions). Normally, there shall be five outside evaluators for tenure decisions and three outside evaluators for promotion decisions.

¹⁹ For junior faculty who began their tenure-track appointment prior to semester I of 2014-15, there is also no required reporting of Student Evaluation Questionnaires to the Committee on Faculty Appointments in the second semester of a four-year initial appointment.

Prior to the due date for the recommendation from the departmental Reappointments and Promotions Committee, copies of the evaluators' reports shall be sent to the Committee on Faculty Appointments and to the departmental Reappointments and Promotions Committee. Upon request, the candidate may receive copies of the evaluators' reports. On these copies, the names and institutions of the evaluators shall be deleted. At the request of the evaluator, minor portions of the evaluation which would identify the evaluator also may be omitted. Candidates may file with the Reappointments and Promotions Committee and/or the Committee on Faculty Appointments any response to the evaluations they deem appropriate.

3. Relation to departmental structure. Reappointments, promotions, and/or tenure decisions take place within the context of department structure and must be considered from this perspective. The relation of the expertise of the candidate to important areas within the general field of the department, the distribution of faculty within this field, projected retirement patterns, and future prospects of the department in terms of professional directions and personnel are important matters for assessment. Interdisciplinary factors shall be considered where relevant. Each fall, the Department Chair shall file a copy of Form D, indicating the field distribution and retirement dates of the faculty members in the department. Any department may supplement this form with additional descriptions of its staffing patterns.
4. Service to the College in achieving its educational goals. This includes service on committees or commissions, cooperation in the work of the department and the College, and service in other ways that enrich the environment of the academic community.

Faculty members shall indicate their committee assignments and other activities within the College on the appropriate activity sheet each year. Departmental Reappointments and Promotions Committees shall consult these forms before evaluating a candidate.

In cases of extraordinarily able service on a committee or other assignment, it is appropriate for the chair of that committee, the Department Chair, or the Dean of the College, to note the fact by writing to the Committee on Faculty Appointments and the Reappointments and Promotions Committee.

5. External Professional Activities Evidence of national or regional recognition, such as offices in professional associations, editorships of professional journals, and/or service on special academic or governmental commissions or evaluation committees shall be considered.

Section 7. Term Appointments (Faculty Ineligible for Tenure)

- A. Appointments. Under some circumstances, departments/programs may find that a term appointment (either part-time or full-time) is most appropriate; the initial term of such appointments is normally one year. Such appointments may be made for a variety of reasons: for example, to cover short-term staffing needs or in certain of the creative or performing arts or in fields or positions that are defined more by their pedagogical than by their scholarly functions. Term appointments do not lead to reviews for tenure. If a department's or program's staffing needs require, and the department's or program's curricular needs are best met by continued appointment of a tenure-ineligible faculty member, faculty on term appointments may be rehired as visiting lecturers for up to three additional years.

In such cases where a continuing staffing need exists, departments/programs may either request the conversion of a visiting lecturer position to a lecturer position beyond the fourth year or, alternatively, hire a new faculty member directly into a lecturer position, provided this appointment is the result of a full and open search.

Lecturers will be eligible for a term of one to five years, with the possibility for reappointment. All contract renewals are subject to a review following guidelines for faculty on term appointments, developed by the Committee on Faculty Appointments and the Dean of the College and implemented by the Dean of the College. All visiting lecturer reappointments to a fifth or later year as well as all lecturer and senior lecturer reappointments at the College require recommendation of the department's or program's Reappointments and

Promotions Committee and approval by the Committee on Faculty Appointments. If the department or program wishes to appoint a faculty member on a term appointment to a tenure-track position, the tenure-track position must be authorized by the Dean of the College, and a full and open search to fill the position must be conducted.

B. Titles

1. Unless appointed directly into a lecturer position, a faculty member in the first four years of a term appointment at the College will normally have the title of Visiting Lecturer. The Dean of the College may confer the title of Distinguished Visiting Lecturer, Distinguished Visiting Associate Professor, or Distinguished Visiting Professor, when appropriate.
2. A faculty member initially appointed as a visiting lecturer who is reappointed for a fifth year at the College will have the title of Lecturer, as will a faculty member appointed directly into a lecturer position.
3. Normally, after ten consecutive years of faculty service at the College, a Lecturer is eligible to be reviewed for promotion to Senior Lecturer according to the criteria described in the guidelines for faculty on term appointments. Under unusual circumstances, a newly appointed faculty member may have the title of Senior Lecturer.

C. Review Criteria

1. For Visiting Lecturers: Contracts for Visiting Lecturers will be based on staffing needs within a department or program. The primary criterion for appointment renewal is quality of teaching.
2. For Lecturers and Senior Lecturers: Contracts will be based on staffing needs within a department or program. Although the primary responsibility of Lecturers and Senior Lecturers is instructional, review for reappointment and promotion includes evaluation in three areas: teaching, professional development, and service.

Section 8. Appeals

Appeals of reappointment, tenure and promotion decisions made by the Committee on Faculty Appointments may be filed directly with the Committee or with the Board of Appeals, either by the candidate or the Reappointments and Promotions Committee.

1. If the candidate or the Reappointments and Promotions Committee wishes to file an appeal with the Board of Appeals, such appeals must be filed no later than 60 days after the candidate has been notified of the decision. The Board of Appeals, in turn, must conclude its action on the case no later than the end of the first week of the semester following filing of the appeal.
2. If the candidate or the Reappointments and Promotions Committee wishes to appeal directly to the Committee on Faculty Appointments, such appeals must be filed within one year of the date the candidate has been notified of the decision.

Section 9. Other Articles of Government Describing Procedures

A. Decision-Making Procedures

1. In accordance with Articles of Government and departmental policy, the Reappointments and Promotions Committee shall make recommendations with respect to all reappointments, dismissals, and promotions. (Article VIII, Section 1, B,2.)
2. The Committee on Faculty Appointments shall vote upon recommendations to be made by the President to the Board of Trustees regarding departmental recommendations of initial appointments to ranks of Associate Professor and Professor - Article V, Section 12, F, 1.

3. The Committee on Faculty Appointments shall vote upon recommendations to be made by the President to the Board of Trustees regarding departmental recommendations of promotions and reappointments to ranks of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, Professor and Lecturer - Article V, Section 12, F, 2.
4. The Committee on Faculty Appointments shall vote upon recommendations to be made by the President to the Board of Trustees regarding departmental recommendations of reappointments and promotions to ranks of Lecturer and Senior Lecturer.
5. The Committee on Faculty Appointments shall prepare policy guidelines regarding appointments, promotions, tenure, dismissals and termination of faculty appointments, including terminations of tenure.

B. Process of Evaluation

1. Recommendations of reappointment, promotion, and tenure shall include evaluation of the candidate's teaching. Evaluation of a candidate's teaching is to include classroom visits by members of the Reappointments and Promotions Committee. These visits should function as a means of suggesting improvement of teaching as well as for evaluation - Article VIII, Section 1, B, 2.
2. Recommendations of tenure appointments and promotions to the rank of Professor shall ordinarily include an evaluation of the candidate's qualifications by a professional source outside the College - Article V, Section 12, H, 5.

C. Further Procedures

1. Any faculty member may request a hearing before the Committee on Faculty Appointments concerning his professional status at the College - Article V, Section 12, H, 4.
2. The Departmental Committee shall reach an understanding of College departmental policy concerning criteria and procedures for promotion and tenure - Article VIII, Section 1, A, 2, g.
3. Other Articles and sections of legislation, apart from this Article, relevant to Appointments Procedures are:

Article V, Section 12 - Committee on Faculty Appointments
Article VIII, Section 1, B - Reappointments and Promotions Committee
Article V, Section 6 - Board of Appeals
Article X - Promotion Policies
Article XI - Tenure Provision

ARTICLE X. PROMOTION POLICIES

In judging qualifications of candidates for promotion, the CFA will evaluate their records for evidence of excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service. Reference will be made to teaching ability, scholarly strength and growth including research potential and publication²⁰, service to the College, including assumption of departmental and College-wide responsibilities, and external professional activities. In addition to published work, a promotion dossier may include work in progress. In the case of promotion to Full Professor, only teaching, scholarly activity, and service after tenure will be considered. Procedures for review are described in Article IX, Section 6.

Promotion to the rank of Associate Professor will ordinarily occur when an Assistant Professor is granted tenure (see Article IX, Section 3.B.2). A candidate for promotion to the rank of Full Professor will ordinarily be reviewed in the seventh year in rank as Associate Professor. However, individual flexibility is appropriate in the timing of this decision. For the purpose of review in the sixth year in rank, an early promotion review may be initiated by the Reappointments and Promotion Committee on behalf of a candidate with a particularly strong record in all review categories. The Reappointments and Promotion Committee should send a letter initiating such a review to the Dean of the College by October 15 of the year in which the review will take place.

²⁰ "Publication" is a flexible and evolving term defined according to the norms and production timetables of each discipline. It includes creative and artistic work that is presented in public venues as well as traditional scholarship.

If a review does not result in promotion to Full Professor, the candidate, after consultation with his or her Reappointments and Promotion Committee, may request another review in any subsequent year. The candidate will be reviewed for merit no later than the third year after an unsuccessful promotion review.

In any event that a promotion review has not been requested by the eighth year in rank, the candidate will be reviewed for merit in that year and at three year intervals.

ARTICLE XI. TENURE PROVISIONS

Section 1. Definition

"Tenure" is interpreted to mean "reasonable expectation of permanency" that is, service may be terminated only for a cause which an impartial committee shall deem to be legitimate.

Section 2. Acquisition of Tenure

- A. A faculty member acquires tenure in September of the academic year following a favorable tenure letter.
- B. A faculty member who receives an unfavorable tenure letter in December (or April) may remain at the College an additional year.
- C. Recommendation for tenure should always be based upon evidence that the candidate is an able teacher and possesses intellectual enthusiasm and power. In judging qualifications of candidates, reference will be made to teaching ability, evidence of scholarly strength and growth including research activity and potential, the relation of the candidate to her/his department's structure, service to the College, including assumption of departmental and College-wide responsibilities, and external professional activities. Work in progress as well as work completed will be considered. Procedures for a tenure review are described in Article IX, Section 6.

Section 3. Termination of Appointment After Tenure is Received

The expectation of permanency shall not be disappointed except as follows:

- A. Legitimate causes for failure to reappoint after tenure has been acquired include: proved moral delinquency, failure to maintain high standards in teaching, serious failure to cooperate with the department or the College. Whatever the cause, it shall have become apparent or have increased in gravity since the latest reappointment.
- B. It is recognized that in case of grave moral delinquency, the College has the right to dismiss at any time.

Termination of permanent or long-term appointments because of financial exigencies, or curricular changes, should be sought only as a last resort, after every effort has been made to meet the need in other ways and to find for the teacher other employment in the institution. Situations which make drastic retrenchment of this sort necessary should preclude expansions of the staff at other points at the same time, except in extraordinary circumstances.

- C. As soon as possible, notification in writing of a recommendation for dismissal or for termination of appointment in such cases as those described under (A), (B), and (C) shall be given by the President to the individual concerned, together with a statement of the reasons for terminating the appointment. A copy of the notification shall be given to the Department Chair.
- D. The individual shall have the right to state her/his case before the Reappointments and Promotions Committee of the department and before the Committee on Faculty Appointments.

If the judgment of these committees is adverse, the individual shall have the right to appeal to a special committee provided she/he makes her/his appeal in writing within one month after the adverse judgment is received, the committee to be composed of five members agreed on by the President of the College, the Reappointments and Promotions Committee of the department, and the individual concerned. These five members shall include at least two chairs of departments other than the department concerned and may include an extramural authority. In the event that the President of the College, the Reappointments and Promotions Committee of the department and the individual concerned fail to agree on a special committee within one month after an appeal has been made, the composition of the committee may be settled by the Board of Trustees or its Executive Committee. At any hearing the individual whose dismissal or non-reappointment is in question shall have the right to present testimony from all sources and to have present at the hearing an advisor of her/his own choosing.

Section 4. Change in the Basis of Tenure

- A. A tenured full-time faculty member may request that his or her status be changed to that of a regular part-time faculty member on tenure. A decision on this request is subject to agreement of the department and the Dean of the College.
- B. A tenured faculty member on regular part-time appointment may have his or her status changed to that of a full-time tenured faculty member only after obtaining approval of the Reappointments and Promotions Committee of the department, the Dean of the College, and the Committee on Faculty Appointments.

ARTICLE XII. SABBATICAL LEAVE POLICY.

Section 1. Purpose

Sabbatical leave is granted to tenured members of the faculty not only as a recognition of service through teaching and scholarly contributions, but especially as an aid and inspiration to further achievements.

Sabbatical leave is intended to provide teachers with opportunities for scholarly development and contacts which shall contribute to their professional effectiveness and to the value of their later service to Wellesley College. It is not intended that such leave shall be used for teaching elsewhere or primarily for the purpose of recreation and recuperation.

Normally the opportunity for taking a sabbatical leave for one semester occurs after six semesters of service at the College, and for one year after twelve semesters of service. Such opportunity for taking sabbatical leave at regular intervals is not absolutely guaranteed by the College and will be granted only when the condition of the department involved and of the College in general is such that the member's absence will not seriously impair the interests of the College.

Faculty members may also apply for unpaid leaves for professional purposes. (See below, Article XV, Section 1.) They are requested to plan sabbatical and unpaid leaves in such a way as ordinarily to ensure their presence on campus for two years before a leave, so that there may be continuity in teaching and in meeting other departmental responsibilities.

Section 2. Eligibility for the Initial Sabbatical Leave

At the time the sabbatical takes effect, faculty members must be on tenure. Faculty may apply in the sixth or later year of service above the rank of Instructor at Wellesley College, or in the third year after an early leave, whichever is later. Faculty members who have taken an early leave for a full year are eligible for a semester of sabbatical leave after six more semesters of teaching; faculty members who have not applied for early leave, or who have taken only one semester of early leave, may apply for a year of sabbatical leave. Faculty members must agree to return to Wellesley for at least two years.

Section 3. Form of Grant

Sabbatical leave shall ordinarily involve absence for either a semester or a year at half salary for that period²¹. Faculty members are expected to seek research awards from other sources to supplement their income while on leave. Faculty members who have strenuously sought support for leave projects from outside sources may also apply to the Committee on Faculty Appointments for an addition to the half salary normally granted. This addition will be an amount which will ensure that total income available for the period of the sabbatical leave from the College and from salary supplements included in any research awards received from outside sources will be equal to the income which that individual would ordinarily have received for the same period at the College.

Grants for regular part-time faculty will be prorated according to salary.

These provisions are subject to modification in the event that any member of the faculty on sabbatical leave receives compensation for service in another institution or organization.

Section 4. Application and Report

- A. A faculty member shall normally indicate an intention to apply for a leave by February 1 of the second academic year preceding the proposed leave, whether that proposed leave be for one semester or a full year, or for half or full salary. Such notification shall indicate (1) a tentative intention to apply for a semester or a year, (2) the general area in which research will be undertaken. Notification shall be given to: (1) the Chair of the department, (2) the Committee on Faculty Appointments, (3) the Office of Sponsored Research.
- B. A member of the faculty who intends to seek support from outside sources (see above, Section 3) shall file a draft of a proposal for grant support with the Office of Sponsored Research thirty days before the due date of the first grant application.
- C. It is understood that departments do not approve or disapprove applications for leaves, but the Chair of a Department shall indicate to the Committee on Faculty Appointments whether the Department envisions any difficulties in teaching the curriculum of the department if leave is granted.
- D. A final application for sabbatical leave shall normally be submitted to the Committee on Faculty Appointments by October 1 of the year preceding the proposed leave.
- E. All faculty members granted a sabbatical leave are expected to report fully to the Committee on Faculty Appointments by the end of their first month of teaching following the leave.

Section 5. Administrative Officers

Administrative Officers²² of the College should have the advantages of occasional leaves of absence. The President and the Board of Trustees will consider each application on its merits and grant leave if the circumstances will not adversely affect the smooth operation of the College.

An Administrative Officer of the College will be eligible to apply for a leave of absence for a period of up to six months after four years of service. A leave for one year may be sought after six years of service.

Administrative staff members who serve as deputy to an Administrative Officer of the College will be eligible to apply for a leave of absence for a period of three months after four years of service.

²¹ For example, at an annual salary of $70,000, leave for one semester will involve a guarantee of $17,500; leave for one year will involve a guarantee of $35,000.

²² For purposes of this Article, Administrative Officers of the College are currently identified as: the President, Dean of the College, Vice President for Finance and Treasurer, Vice President for Resources and Public Affairs, and such other senior administrative officers as the President may from time to time designate.

Administrative sabbatical leave is intended to provide officers and eligible staff with opportunities for development and contacts which shall contribute to their professional effectiveness and to the value of their later service to Wellesley College. It is not intended that such leave shall be used for the purpose of recreation and recuperation. All officers and staff members granted a sabbatical leave are expected to report fully to the President by the end of their first month of returning from the leave.

Ordinarily an individual granted leave will be expected to return to the College for at least one calendar year after the leave. The program will not affect the individual's normal annual vacation.

Leave of absence will automatically carry a stipend of half salary. Administrative Officers seeking leave are encouraged to apply for research or study grants from other sources to supplement their income while on leave. If this support is sought but not received, the College will increase the individual's stipend to an amount which will equal his/ her normal salary at the institution for that year.

Librarians in Classifications L V and L IV will, as in the past, be eligible for sabbatical leave under the same conditions as members of the faculty.

ARTICLE XIII. EARLY LEAVE POLICY

Section 1. Purpose

Fundamentally the purpose is the same as for sabbatical leaves. (See Article XII, Section 1.) In addition, the College wishes to assist young scholars to keep alive their own scholarship during the demanding first years of teaching, especially if their teaching and their interest in undergraduate instruction are promising.

Section 2. Eligibility

- A. Assistant Professors with tenure track appointments and who have not yet had a tenure decision may apply during their third or later year of continuous full-time service at Wellesley College provided they will have held the Ph.D. degree for at least three years prior to going on leave. Early leaves are for one semester or for a full academic or calendar year. Members granted leave are normally expected to return to Wellesley for at least one year. Ordinarily, early leaves are not granted for the last year in the rank of Assistant Professor. For purposes of reappointment, promotion, and tenure, a full year spent on early leave will be excluded from the years in rank at the written request of the individual. Such request must be made in writing to the Dean of the College within sixty days after receipt of notification of initial approval of the leave request by the Committee on Faculty Appointments. Research productivity is expected during an early leave, regardless of whether it is counted as a year in rank.

In addition, Assistant Professors on regular part-time appointments may apply during their third or later year of service at Wellesley College provided they will have held the Ph.D. degree at least three years prior to going on leave.

The opportunity to take an early leave cannot be guaranteed by the College; consideration has to be given to the immediate needs of the department involved, the finances of the College, and whether the plan for the leave is likely to advance the long-range scholarly interests of the individual and the College.

Associate Professors are not eligible for early leave.

- B. The award of an early leave carries no implications concerning an individual's prospects for reappointment, promotion, or tenure.

Section 3. Stipend

The College will provide half salary for the period of the leave (e.g., one-half of annual salary for a year's leave, one-quarter salary for a semester's leave). Faculty members are expected to seek research awards from other sources to supplement their income while on leave. Faculty members who have strenuously sought support for leave projects from outside sources may also apply to the Committee on Faculty Appointments for an addition to the half salary normally granted. This addition will be an amount which will ensure that total income for the leave year from the College and from salary supplements included in any research awards received from outside sources will be equal to the income which that individual would ordinarily have received for the same period at the College. Stipends for regular part-time faculty members will be prorated according to salary.

Section 4. Application and Report

- A. A faculty member shall normally indicate an intention to apply for a leave by February 1 of the second academic year preceding the proposed leave, whether that proposed leave be for one semester or a full year, or for half or full salary. Such notification shall indicate (1) a tentative intention to apply for a semester or a year, (2) the general area in which research will be undertaken. Notification shall be given to (1) the Chair of the Department, (2) the Committee on Faculty Appointments, (3) the Office of Sponsored Research.
- B. A member of the faculty who intends to seek support from outside sources (see above, Section 3) shall file a draft of a proposal for grant support with the Office of Sponsored Research thirty days before the due date of the first grant application.
- C. It is understood that departments do not approve or disapprove applications for leaves, but the Chair of a Department shall indicate to the Committee on Faculty Appointments whether the Department envisions any difficulties in teaching the curriculum of the Department if leave is granted.
- D. A final application for early leave shall normally be submitted to the Committee on Faculty Appointments by October 1 of the year preceding the proposed leave.
- E. All faculty members granted an early leave are expected to report fully to the Committee on Faculty Appointments by the end of their first month of teaching following the leave.

ARTICLE XIV. PENSION, SICK LEAVE, INSURANCE, HOME OWNERSHIP PROGRAMS

The Trustees have provided a Pension Plan, Major Medical Insurance, a Sick Leave Plan, Disability and Life Insurance, and a Home Ownership Plan. Information concerning these programs is distributed to members of the faculty when they become eligible for them and is available to any member at any time in the Office of the President, the Dean, and the Vice President for Finance and Treasurer.

ARTICLE XV. OTHER LEAVES

Section 1. Unpaid Leaves

A. Unpaid Leaves for Professional Purposes

All faculty members may, with the permission of their departments and the Dean of the College, take unpaid professional leave at a time when they are not due for or cannot receive a College-supported leave. Such leave may be for a semester or for a year. For purposes of salary, time spent on such leaves will ordinarily count as time in rank. For purposes of calculating the sequence of sabbatical or early leaves, time spent on such leaves will not count as time in rank. For purposes of reappointment, promotion, and tenure, time spent on such a leave will ordinarily count as time in rank, but individuals may request that it be excluded. Such a request must be made in writing at the same time as the leave request. Research productivity is expected while on an unpaid professional leave.

B. Unpaid Leaves for Personal Reasons

All faculty members may, with the permission of their department and the Dean of the College, take unpaid leaves for personal reasons at a time when they are not due for or cannot receive a College-supported leave. Such unpaid leaves may be for a semester or for a year. Such leaves will not count as a year in rank for purposes of salary, for calculating the sequence of sabbatical leaves, or for reappointment or promotion. Research productivity is not expected while on unpaid personal leave.

Section 2. Parental Leaves

For the purposes of reappointment, promotion and tenure, a faculty member who elects the parental leave benefit may exclude the year in which parental leave is taken from the years in rank. Such a request must be made in writing within 60 days of the date the parental leave benefit is elected. Research productivity is not expected while on parental leave.

Section 3. Professional Development Leaves

Lecturers, Senior Lecturers, Instructors in Science Laboratory, and Senior Instructors in Science Laboratory will be eligible to apply for competitive one-semester professional development leaves after six consecutive years of service at the College, as described in the guidelines for faculty on term appointments and in the guidelines for instructors in science laboratory.
