Join Lisa Fischman, Ruth Gordon Shapiro '37 Director of the Davis Museum at Wellesley College, in this art-filled exploration of Atlanta, Montgomery & Birmingham

Lisa Fischman has been the Ruth Gordon Shapiro '37 Director of the Davis Museum at Wellesley College since 2010, and in her roles as Director and Chief Curator provides vision and leadership, curatorial and collections oversight, effective management, and academic direction for the Davis Museum, an institution central to the educational mission and intellectual life of Wellesley College. A specialist in contemporary art, she has curated numerous exhibitions and written and/or contributed to many publications. At the Davis, these include: Christiane Baumgartner: Another Country (2018, catalogue), Eddie Martinez: Ants at a Picnic (2017, catalogue), Hraig Sarkissian: Horizon (2017), Tony Matelli: New Gravity (2014, catalogue), Eija-Liisa Ahtila: Olentoja (2014), A Generous Medium: Photography at Wellesley 1972-2012 (2012, catalogue), and El Anatsui: When I Last Wrote to You about Africa (2011). Several of her recent projects have focused on art of the Middle East, including the milestone exhibition, Parviz Tanavoli (2015, catalogue), the artist's first U.S. museum retrospective in nearly forty years. In 2016, under her direction, the Davis accomplished a total reinstallation of the permanent collections galleries; nearly three years in the making and supported by numerous grant awards, the project ambitiously reimaged the Museum and more than doubled the number of works on view. Fischman received her Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota in Art History and American Studies in 1997.
