DMSAC Bios - Fall 2019

Hey y'all! My name is Caroline Alt ('21) and I am from Dallas! I am majoring in Political Science and minoring in American History. I have been on DMSAC since my first few weeks of college and I absolutely love the committee. Within the Davis, I also work as a Student Visitors Assistant, and outside of the Davis I am a Resident Assistant, a member of the Agora Society, and deeply involved in College Government. I am so excited to serve as a Co-Coordinator this year and bring the Davis closer to the Wellesley community!

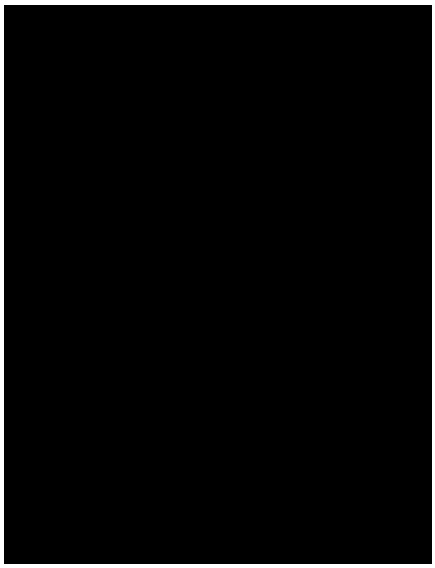
My name is Abby Lindsay ('20), and I am so excited to be serving as Co-Coordinator of DMSAC this year. I'm a senior majoring in Art History and minoring in Economics, and am particularly interested in museum education, bronze age archeology, historic preservation, and the digital humanities. Outside of Wellesley, I work as a Visitor Assistant at the Institute of Contemporary Art in Boston, and I love running, camping, and spending time with friends.

My name is Megan McNally, and I'm a senior majoring in art history and French. I joined DMSAC my first year, and it has been an unparalleled opportunity to connect with both the Davis and fellow students who are passionate about art! This summer, I served as the student coordinator of the Davis Internship, and I look forward to another great year at the Davis.

I'm Ella Mints, a sophomore from NYC majoring in Art History. I am currently vice president of the Art History Club, work as a Student Visitor Assistant at the Davis, and also work as an assistant at the Art Library!

My name is Sarah Kain and I am a senior from (outside of) Chicago studying English and American Studies at Wellesley, though I have a deep passion for art, art history, and museum work. This past summer, I was a curatorial intern for the Davis working on the Northern Baroque print case. I love being a part of DMSAC and getting to work with the Davis year-round!

My name is Maddy Allan-Rahill (2020) and I am majoring in Media Arts and Sciences with a minor in Middle Eastern Studies. This past summer I worked as the Special Exhibitions Technology Intern at the Davis, developing content for the augmented reality portion of "Fatimah Tuggar: Home's Horizons." I plan to combine computer science and art in many exciting ways post-grad!



Hello! My name is Carissa Wong (‘21), and I am originally from Hong Kong. I am a junior at Wellesley College studying Architecture and Art History. I love working with DMSAC because museums have always been a safe space for me to learn, wander, and explore. I can't wait to be a part of DMSAC as we create more programming for Wellesley College Students in collaboration with the Davis Museum!

I am Christine Burns (’20) from Provincetown, MA! I am a senior double-majoring in Art History and Spanish. Along with participating on DMSAC’s Communications Committee, I work with Arthurina Fears as the Public and Interpretive Programs Assistant. I love walking around the lake, curating Spotify playlists, and eating cupcakes from Claflin Bakery.

My name is Corinne Muller (’21) and I’m majoring in Art History and German Studies. After Wellesley, I’d like to pursue a career in historic preservation and cultural property law. I joined DMSAC because I wanted to show the Wellesley community how valuable of a resource the Davis is and get other students just as excited about art as I am.

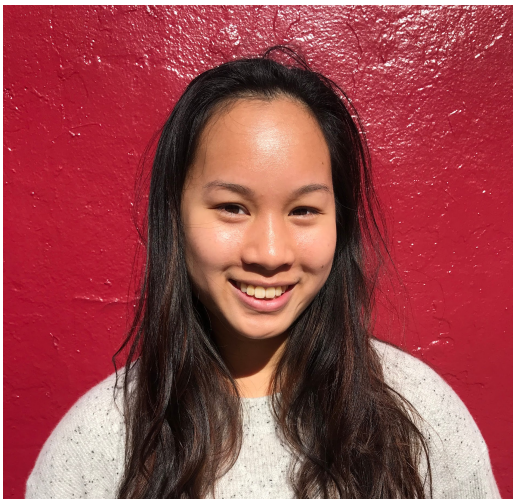
Hi all! My name is Jess List (‘22), I am a sophomore from Fort Worth, Texas. I am majoring in English and Art History, so the Davis has provided me with many magnificent essay topics! I am a member of the coop El Table, and I work as a production assistant in the theater on campus. You can catch me around campus building sets, slinging sandwiches and coffee, or reading by the lake among the armada of geese.

Hi everyone, my name is Hana Sugioke (‘21) from Newbury Park, California majoring in Classical Studies and Art History. On DMSAC, I serve on the Friends of Art committee. I joined DMSAC to help to make the museum experience more approachable and engaging to all members of the community!

My name is Katie (‘20) and I am a senior from the San Francisco Bay Area - where museums like the De Young and SFMoma were responsible for starting my love for art and museums. While I am majoring in Sociology and Environmental Studies, in my free time I enjoy watercolor painting and videography. I feel lucky that at Wellesley I have access to a museum like The Davis, and I am even more grateful to be a part of DMSAC where I can share what I love about the museum with the whole campus.

Hello everyone! My name is Stephanie Fan (‘22), and I’m a prospective Economics and Art History double major from Shanghai, China. This summer I worked at the Davis Museum as a curatorial intern, and I was able to gain invaluable insight into the museum industry while developing my writing and research skills. I’m excited to continue to work with the Davis as a member of DMSAC and as a curatorial research assistant for the upcoming year, and I look forward to organizing accessible and meaningful programs with DMSAC for the Wellesley community!

Hi! My name is Ava Yokanovich (she/her/hers) and I am in the class of 2022. I intend on studying architecture and sociology, but nothing is set in stone yet. Outside of DMSAC, I work as a Scout at the Foundry on Babson's campus. When I am on campus, I'm usually either in Pom living room or on the 4th floor of Clapp! I love all things Minnesota, track and field, Nora Ephron, and Wellesley!



My name is Jane Kinsella (2022) and I am a sophomore at Wellesley intending to major in French Cultural Studies and Middle Eastern Studies. At Wellesley, I am an avid dancer, and participates in two dance organizations! I am particularly excited to expand to the Davis Museum's role as not only a place for the visual arts, but the performing arts, as well. I look forward to this coming year as a member of DMSAC, and can't wait to see what the year has in store!

Hello, my name is Deana Weatherly ('22). I am an Art History major and a German Studies minor. My goal for this year is to bring more culturally diverse events to the Davis!

My name is Mable Peach (‘23)! I am first-year student at Wellesley from a town that is right outside of Philadelphia. As a prospective art history major, I love learning about art law and repatriation on my own time. In addition to being on DMSAC's Programming Committee, I am a student guide at the Davis, the Eco Rep for Tower Court House Council, and a volunteer at Natick Community Organic Farm. I love to read, go on walks around Wellesley, and visit museums.

My name is Sophie Christiano (‘21) and I am majoring in Economics and minoring in History. I am originally from Old Lyme, Connecticut, where I live down the road from a local center of art museums and galleries. Outside of school, I like to run, bike, and hike, but I especially enjoy visits to the Metropolitan Museum of Art’s Costume Institute!

My name is Kate Hall (‘22) and I am studying Anthropology and Classical Civilizations. Though it was my interest in classical art and archaeology that drew me to the Davis originally, I also just love exploring museums in general, particularly those in foreign countries and with plenty of space for aimless wandering and contemplation. In my free time, I enjoy creative writing, hiking, and reading.

My name is Melissa He (‘21) and I am an art history and American studies major, and I love painting and looking at paintings. I am still entirely unsure of what I want for the future, but I am sure of my love for live folk-rock, 1940s rom coms, and electric scooters.
