Wintersession in Rome

with Professor Flavia Laviosa
Italian Studies 202
January 4-22, 2016

Course description

This intensive three-week course is a full immersion experience in Italy. It consists of a fast-paced grammar review through the reading of literary texts and newspapers, oral discussions on Italian current events, and compositions on cultural topics. The course includes a rich program of guest speakers, such as university professors and artists, as well as movie screenings. In addition, students are encouraged to explore the historical and artistic sites of the city and use the language to interact with the Italian people.

Prerequisites & Credits

3 semesters of Italian language or permission of the instructor.
Credit unit: 1.0 (or equivalent)

What students say about the program

“This wintersession program was truly one of my most memorable experiences since being at Wellesley. It was amazing to travel with such a diverse group of people and learn by living the Italian lifestyle. Every day was filled with unexpected surprises and discoveries on the streets of Rome.”

-Holly Shreckengast ‘15

“In every corner there is a new moment waiting to be experienced. From the food to the people to the class discussions this program has allowed me the opportunity to experience a culture so different than my own.”

-Dania Figueroa ‘17
