

Teaching and Learning with Digital Storytelling

Sponsored by the Andrew W. Mellon Blended Learning Initiative

Associate Professor in the Higher Education Program
Director of educational projects at the Center for History and New Media
George Mason University

Kelly Schrum, Ph.D.

12:30 - 2:00 pm
Thursday, March 16
Library Lecture Room

Digital storytelling can be many things: narrative, interactive, linear, nonlinear, immersive, artistic, educational. What happens when we use digital storytelling to communicate academic research? When we use it in the classroom to teach digital skills as well as content? This workshop explores these questions and more, including practical strategies for integrating digital storytelling into the classroom across disciplines.

Bring your laptop!

Lunch will be served

Contact: bli-team@wellesley.edu
Disability services: disabilityservices@wellesley.edu