Multiple Sclerosis Summer Research Fellowship

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society and Wellesley Neuroscience Program announce

The Buegeleisen Family MS Undergraduate Research Fellowship

for a Wellesley undergraduate with an avid interest in multiple sclerosis.

This fellowship has been generously funded by The National Multiple Sclerosis Society for a student to play an integral role in basic MS research. The student selected will work for 10 weeks during the summer of 2019 in the lab of Dr. Francisco Quintana at the Center for Neurologic Diseases, Brigham and Women's Hospital, Harvard Medical School:

http://www.brighamandwomens.org/research/labs/quintana/default.aspx.

The student will receive a $5,225 scholarship for the summer project, which includes a stipend as well as support for housing.

Applications must be received by February 13, 2019. Successful applicants will be notified by late March or early April of the decision. For questions contact Mike Wiest in the Neuroscience Program (mwiest@wellesley.edu).

Guidelines:
Students in the classes of 2019, 2020, 2021 and 2022 are encouraged to apply for this fellowship. Applications should include the following:

- A cover letter with complete contact information (email, phone, address)
- Personal statement explaining your future goals and interest in this program
- Curriculum vitae (or resume)
- Wellesley transcript (unofficial is acceptable)
- Letter of recommendation (preferably from a Wellesley faculty member), submitted separately by the recommender

Application materials and recommendation letters should be sent via e-mail to the Google Group:

MS-society-fellowship@wellesley.edu

Please include in the subject line of the e-mail: "YOUR NAME_Buegeleisen Family Fellowship"